RATE BILL VOTE

Weary of Debtae, Senate Will Act.

WEATHER A FACTOR

Prepared Speeches on Measure to Be Delivered by Clarke of Arkansas, Daniel, and Rayner.

week, it is possible that the Senate will begin the consideration of the pending amerdments to the railroad rate bill speeches to be limited to ten minutes each. This will bring the final vote on the bill within measurable distance.

There have been a great many amendments offered, particularly regarding the character of the judicial review to which rate decisions of the Interstate Com-Several of these will involve considerable debate, especially those offered by Senators Knox, Bailey, and Simmons, so that even with a time-limit on speeches,

The indications are, therefore, that the earliest possible time for a vote on the passage of the completed bill will be May 8 or 9.

Tillman's Program.

Senator Tillman, in charge of the bill, to press it more vigorously henceforth. There have been days within the last few weeks when Senators were not pre-pared to proceed with the debate. Such was the case Friday afternoon, after Mr. Spooner concluded, and again yesterday.

Beginning with tomorrow, Senator Tillman says that he will keep the bill continuously before the Senate, and if no one is ready to speak on it, he will demand that Senators proceed to vote upon and dispose of proposed amend-ments. Senator Allison, who is getting impatient at the length of time the bill has been kept before the Senate, to the exclusion of almost all other business assured Senator Tillman that he would support him in this program.

Most Senators are getting very tired of the debate, anyhow, and believe that the people are, too. These forces working together, with the advent of warm weather, will, it is believed, soon bring the end in sight.

Three Prepared Speeches.

There are three speeches yet to be de livered. Senator Clarke of Arkansas will talk tomorrow; Senator Daniel of Vir-ginla will probably occupy Tuesday, and Senator Rayner of Maryland, who has been asked by Senator Bailey to close the debate for the Democratic side, is expected to take the floor Wednesday. It is believed that these are the last of the prepared speeches.

The Committee on Privileges and Elections will meet Tuesday to consider its report on the Reed Smoot case, involving the right of that Senator to retain his seat. The understanding is that a final vote shall be taken on Friday. There is little doubt that a majority of the c opposed to Smoot, but the principal fight in the committee is expected to come on the question as to whether the Senate can exclude him or shall expel

Senator Bailey contends that Smoot having been sworn in as a member of the Senate, and having taken his seat and participated in the business of the body, cannot be excluded, as was the case with Roberts in the House, who was not allowed to take the oath as member.

Chairman Burrows holds that it is within the power of the Senate to adopt a resolution excluding any Senator from his seat. The point is that such a resolution for exclusion would require only a majority vote to carry while a resolution to expel a Sena tor requires, under the Constitution, a two-thirds vote.

How Votes Stand.

It is not believed that there are votes enough in the Senate to expel Smoot. The contest in the committee will be watched with interest by the nstitutional lawyers. Whatever may be the result the case will not brought up in the Senate until after the railroad rate bill has been dis

The Panama Canal hearings will continue during the week. Traffic Manager Walker, of the Panama railroad, will be the witness on Tuesday next, and William Nelson Cromwell has been recalled for Wednesday. It is said that these witnesses will be the

In the House the interesting event of the week will be the discussion and probable passage of the naval approconstruction of a monster battleship exceeding in size the Dreadnought of the British navy. It is the hope of the leaders to get the bill out of the way next week, although Monday will be given up to business under suspension
